

What Will It Take?

What will it take for our world to truly know Peace?
When the need to look at one another with fear will cease?

It will happen when we can look at each other
And only see the face of our sister or brother.

It will happen when we can look deep into one another's heart And see the LOVE that has been us from the start.

The world will know Peace
When we look at each other and finally see That the being I am looking at is actually ME.
