

Until One is What We Are

And the light of love
Shall dawn among us
As faithfully as the sun in the sky.
And we will come to find
The ardent realization
That those answers found in love
Resound with bells that toll
As loudly as all time.
And we, who have awakened
Will shine love so brightly
That all others will merge within the folds,
And even those reluctant souls
Will abandon their positions
Finding love's destination
As so much more than an option.
With the heart's markers
Lighting the only path
That may be followed,
We move as one,
Until one is what we are.

Jean A. Williams
Poinciana (Solivita), FL