Unconditional love begins with me. And you dear friend. It is true that we live in an age of upheaval and disruption, change and conflict. Humanity is at a crisis inflection point. We are at the peak of human chaos becoming increasingly inhuman and even brutal. But there is hope for our warring states. Only the authentic power of unconditional love can heal and mend our broken hearts. For all our problems, love is the authentic solution. Do we have the courage to change our petty mindsets?

Now is the time. Here is the moment. The present is really a gift of love unlimited. All we need do is to truly see beyond our petty indifference, selfish prides and arrogant egos. Then, we can, each person -- begin to find our way back to love. We can start with baby steps. Love is like the sun. If we turn our backs to the sun and walk away, we will feel less and less warm. If we walk ever closer to the sun, we will feel energetic love warming our love life. To be love or not to be love, is truly our personal choice. Choose proactively. Choose love.

Choice is the key. Choice is the gift of free will. Choice empowers voice. Listen to your heart where your soul sits waiting to unleash loving-kindness to all you meet in your daily encounters. Choose to love those who love you. Choose to love the impoverished especially those who are hard to love. Choose to love those who you think don't deserve to be loved. Love dissolves hate, and restores good health. Unconditional love knows no boundaries and can overcome all barriers.

Observe and look around to truly see. Just see how love is the awesome energy that creates miracles and magic, moment to moment. Love is the universal solvent that dissolves all harshness and restores wholesomeness. Love confronts conflict with kindness and compassion. Love changes everything and everyone within sight by a subtle shift of insight and empathy.
